BIOCHEMISTRY

Apolipoprotein A1 (Apo-A1) (Serum)

Apolipoprotein A1 (Apo-A1) Immunoturbidimetry	145.00	110-205	mg/dL
---	--------	---------	-------

Interpretation:

Apolipoprotein A (ApoA) is the primary protein component of high-density lipoprotein (HDL).

ApoA is the nucleating protein around which HDL forms during reverse cholesterol transport.

Reduced ApoA confers an increased risk of coronary artery disease. Extremely low ApoA is suggestive of liver disease or a genetic disorder.

Increased ApoA concentrations are more strongly associated with a reduction in risk of myocardial infarction than HDL-C concentrations.

ApoA is often interpreted as a ratio with apolipoprotein B (ApoB).

Disclaimer:

- All results released pertain to the specimen as received by the lab for testing and under the assumption that the patient indicated or identified on the bill/test requisition form is the owner of the specimen.
- Clinical details and consent forms, especially in Genetic testing, histopathology, as well as wherever applicable, are mandatory to be accompanied with the test requisition form. The non-availability of such information may lead to delay in reporting as well as misinterpretation of test results. The lab will not be responsible for any such delays or misinterpretations thereof.
- Test results are dependent on the quality of the sample received by the lab. In case the samples are preprocessed elsewhere (e.g., paraffin blocks), results may be compromised.
- Tests are performed as per the schedule given in the test listing and in any unforeseen circumstances, report delivery may be affected.
- Test results may show inter-laboratory as well as intra-laboratory variations as per the acceptable norms.
- Genetic reports as well as reports of other tests should be correlated with clinical details and other available test reports by
